RENDERS STRIKE IMPOSSIBLE Schaffer and His Companions Make an Agreement With Officials.

New York, March 5.—After a conference which lasted for two days, the visiting committee of the Amaigamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers and the officials of the American Tin Plate company reached on agreement today. The rills of the American Tin Plate company will now be in operation uninterruptedly during the summer months, when the annual scale of wages is formulated. This, it is claimed, means practically that this continuous scale prevents the mills of the Tin Plate company from closing, and renders a strike impossible.
